Application Student

In One Sentence:
Orbotech is looking an Application Student to work on cutting-edge systems incorporating various technologies including Imaging, optics, electronics, mechanics and image processing. If you want to be part of a young team with great atmosphere that works on an exciting technology, you see yourself as a leader that can execute tasks, you are great with people- this job is for you!

What Will Your Job Look Like?

- Working with R&D Application team
- Drafting application specifications and definitions for R&D
- Integrating new options and developments with other R&D team members, such as: SW, ALG, HW, Mech, Physics and System Engineer.
- Assisting with machine evaluations and testing
- Defining customer needs from the system
- Travel to customer site (abroad) might be relevant after a while

What You Need to Succeed?

- Student in his 3rd / 2nd year of studies in any of the known universities studying one of the following engineering programs - Electronics/Mechanics / Bio-Medical
- Availability to work at least 25 hours a week (preferably more)
- Managerial/command experience – an advantage
- Fluent in English
- Good system understanding and technical affiliation
- Good interpersonal communication skills
- Ability to work well under pressure
- Willingness to travel abroad- advantage

Who We Are

Virtually every electronic device in the world is produced using Orbotech systems. For over 30 years, Orbotech has been a market leader in developing cutting edge inspection, test, repair and production solutions for the manufacture of the world’s most sophisticated consumer and industrial electronics. Orbotech has over 2,600 employees in 50 offices around the globe: North America, Europe, Japan, and Asia Pacific. The company’s headquarters are located in Israel as well as R&D and production of many of its product lines.

Location: Yavne, Israel
Apply to: Jobs@orbotech.com
Required Travel: Yes
Managerial: No